We Rotarians are a generous lot. Some give of their time, others their money. And, many of us give both. Raising money from our members is therefore relatively easy.

However, small things like buying a raffle, paying more than one "fine" became part of what we do when we come to Rotary. It becomes part of who we are. It becomes part of our culture.

We must be careful that it doesn't become part of the cost of belonging. Giving money to Rotary causes is fine. In fact it should be applauded. But, this should be done freely rather than as an obligation.

Both were full of bull.
